PEDD YOUNG SCHOLAR AWARD

The Young Scholar Award is endowed with 500€ and is presented to the best paper authored by one or multiple young scholars (pre- or post-doc, no tenured faculty) all under the age of 35 as of September 15, 2025. Papers co-authored with tenured colleagues/supervisors or senior researchers older than 35 are not eligible.

The Paper Selection Committee kindly served as jury members:

- Zarah Asatryan, University of Münster, ZEW, Germany
- Giacomo De Luca, Free University of Bozen-Bolzano, Italy
- Sofia Tsarsitalidou, University of Peloponnese, Greece & LSE, UK
- Alfa Farah, Diponegoro University, Indonesia
- Lena Gerling, University of Münster, Thünen Institute, Germany
- Manuel Santos Silva, Free University of Berlin, Germany
- Andreas Stegmann, University of Münster, Germany.

The jury evaluated all eligible papers submitted by the full paper deadline. Each jury member independently ranked these papers and gave four points to the top-ranked paper, three points to the second-ranked paper, two points to the third-ranked paper and one point to the fourth-ranked paper. The PEDD Young Scholar Award is awarded to the paper that received the overall highest number of points.

The eligible papers submitted generally reflect a high degree of scientific quality, cover a wide range of topics and methods, and address relevant research questions in the current literature. The eligible papers and candidates include (they are also highlighted in the detailed program):

- Anastasiia Arbuzova (Stockholm Institute of Transition Economics) - Session B1,
- Matheus Cosso (Stanford University) - Session E2,
- Marius Kröper (Dresden University of Technology) - Session E4,
- Lorenz Meister (German Institute for Economic Research and Free University of Berlin) - Session C2,
- Joris Mueller (National University of Singapore) - Session C3,
- Vladimir Shchukin (CERGE-EI) - Session A2,
- Jovana Zafirović (Institute of Social Sciences, Belgrade) - Session C1,
- Edith Zink (University of Copenhagen) - Session F1.

The winner of the 2026 PEDD Young Scholar Award will be announced prior to the conference dinner on Friday, February 20, 2026. All past winners can be found on our website.

INFORMATION ON THE PARALLEL SESSIONS

There will be four parallel sessions with three or four presentations in each session. Presenters, discussants and the session chair are indicated in the program below. The chair's job is to start and conclude the session on time and supervise that the total time for each paper does not exceed the adequate share of time of the total session.

The total time for each paper should not exceed 30 minutes and should be allocated as follows:

- 20 minutes for the presentation
- five minutes for the discussant
- five minutes for questions and comments from the audience.

Each presenter is asked to briefly discuss one other paper during his or her session. Each paper has been assigned a discussant and assignments are indicated in the detailed program below.

Access to papers is restricted to conference participants.

Please check the conference webpage for last-minute changes in the program due to cancellations.

Maria Petrova: "Socializing alone: How online homophily has undermined social cohesion in the US"

Maria Petrova is currently a Professor of economics and an ICREA Research Professor at Pompeu Fabra University. She holds a Ph.D. in Political Economy and Government from Harvard University and is an empirical economist who studies issues in the political economy of media.

Her research has been published in leading peer-reviewed journals, including The American Economic Review, Econometrica, The Quarterly Journal of Economics, and American Economic Journal - Applied Economics.

Petrova's academic career began at the New Economic School in Moscow in 2008 as an Assistant Professor, where she later became an Associate Professor, a position she held until 2022. In 2013, she moved to Barcelona to take up her current positions. She has since held positions at Pompeu Fabra University as a Professor of Economics and an ICREA Research Professor, at the Barcelona School of Economics as a Research Professor, and as a Researcher at the Barcelona Institute for Political Economy and Governance (IPEG).

Petrova is a member of the Board of Directors (since 2021) and of the Editorial Board (since 2016) of the Review of Economic Studies, and served as Co-Editor of the Journal of Public Economics from 2016 to 2023. She was awarded a European Research Council Starting Grant for the five-year project EXTREME ("The Rise and Fall of Populism and Extremism") for the period 2019–2024.

SAVE THE DATE

We would be very happy to welcome you again next year for the PEDD jubilee. It will be the tenth edition.

Please save the date: February 18–20, 2027.

As usual, we plan to send out the call for papers in June, with a deadline in mid-September. Feel free to share this information with interested colleagues.

NOTES
